

CINDY ADAMS

By Cindy Adams

July 18, 2017 | 7:17pm

Close always close to canines

Glenn Close to Victoria Shaffer on Pet Life Radio's "Tails of the City": "I was 4 with my first collie and wore its collar as a belt. My medical-student dad secretly rescued lab animals. Our home menagerie had seven street dogs. My Havanese, Sir Pippin of Beanfield, is named after 'Great Expectations' character Pip. Another, Gabby "is after reading my earliest sexy book about French composer Saint-Saëns' mistress."

Her next maybe gets called "Sunset Boulevard"?

NOW ON

Page Six

Apple founder Steve Jobs is the subject of a new opera

Nev Schulman is getting married in the Hamptons this weekend

Mayim Bialik still makes pennies from 'Doogie Howser' role

Andrew Garfield finally explains 'gay man' comments

'Game of Thrones' director defends Ed Sheeran cameo

Rosie O'Donnell encourages fans to push Trump off cliff

SEE ALL ▶

